By WALTER M. BARRETT

Evidently this cleanup idea is nothing new in Truckee, but nevertheless, it is equally evident that the condition has not and will not correct itself. We quote from the Truckee Republican under date of May 19, 1880, 58 years ago this month, as Editor B. J. Watson saw the filth: "As warm weather is fast approaching would it not be well for some of our citizens to look after the dirt and filth that has accumulated during the winter in the alley back of Front street—as it may be means of causing a great deal of sickness." We sincerely hope that during the next 58 years something will be done so that the editor then will have a new crusade for the betterment of the town.

We counted not less than 12 peddlers in Truckee one day this week. Each one was selling articles that can be purchased from local merchants and from our casual observation the sales for the peddlers were good. We even had a fellow in trying to sell us some printing, not realizing he explained that printing was done here. Calls in other spots, however, netted him business. There should be a law—

Our public school, despite the fact they cost us a large share of our annual tax expenditure, are no doubt the nation's greatest asset. In setting aside a week for Public Schools Week, the Masonic Lodge accomplished a fine piece of work. It is a week that should be commemorated and observed by everyone. Tonight a program in observance of the week will be held at the grammar school auditorium and the attendance should fill the large hall. The program will be enjoyable and instructive.

Each day now the mails bring increasing numbers of "news-release on receipt" bunks from the scores of political job seekers. If we attempted to print even a small part of these "news" letters, telling what great and intelligent men are seeking to guide the destinies of our state and nation, the columns of The Sun would be available for nothing else, so we hope you will excuse us if we just continue filing these releases in the waste basket until we have a chance to make a more thorough investigation of the contents and are able to rewrite what we know to be facts.

EXTENSION OF TAHOE FOREST BOUNDARY UNDER DISCUSSION

Forest service and grazing officials and stockmen of the Washoe county district in Nevada met last night at the Washoe school house to discuss the advisability of extending the boundaries of the Tahoe National Forest, to include the foothill lands east of Mt. Rose, south to Lake Tahoe and east to the Reno, Carson, Genoa road, an area of approximately 11,000 acres of grazing and timber land. Of the 22 ranches present, 16 voted in favor of the plan, six declining to vote as they had little interest in the plan.

L. R. Brooks, regional grazer under the Taylor Grazing Act explained his stand while DeWitt Nelson, H. I. Snider and L. S. Smith discussed the thing from the forest service point of view.

State Engineer Here To Inspect Local Sewer Line

Recommendations Will Be Made To Local Board By Engineer

OFFERS COOPERATION

Present Condition View As Serious By State Official

For the purpose of cooperating with the Truckee sanitary board in formulating plans to eliminate the current unsanitary condition in the eastern section of town, caused by the inability of the sewer to care for the sewage and surface water, E. A. Reinke, senior sanitary engineer of the California Department of Public Health, was here this week.

Reinke, with members of the local board made a survey of the situation and will offer recommendations to the board to correct the matter.

Several suggestions were made by the state official, but he was emphatic in his statement that the condition could not continue with being a serious health menace. The present sewer, north of the S. P. tracks is not sufficiently large in the spring of the year to carry its required load. It is proposed to extend a line from a point on Bridge street south under the tracks to connect with a larger and less used main on the south side. This, Reinke explained, might be a temporary solution, but with the steady development of the town will not suffice for long. Other recommendations will be made in a letter to the board here after a more thorough study of the local condition.

Reinke also viewed with some dismay the garbage and trash condition in the alleys and indicated a report would be made to the sanitary department at once.

Robert Tonini, president of the local board accompanied Reinke on the local tour of inspection.

Pacific Greyhound Wins Contract To Haul Tahoe Mail

Bid Of $1225 Annually Is Accepted By Postal Department

WILL START ON JULY 1

No Stipulation On Time Or Excess Loads Contained In Contract

Postmaster E. C. Bavier was informed this week that the contract to carry the mail to Tahoe has been awarded to the Pacific Greyhound Lines effective July 1 for a period of four years.

The bid of the bus company was $1225 annually.

The cost for transporting the mail in the past has been averaging $1800 a year, with a stipulation that the carrier operate only during the winter months, the Southern Pacific holding the right to haul the mail when the Tahoe line is in operation. Under the present contract, no stipulation as to the period of the year in which the carrier is responsible being given. Neither will there be any extra charge permissible for excess, the past contract having provided for 25 cents per hundred for all mail or parcel post in excess of 600 pounds daily.

The contact calls for delivery of the mail from Truckee to Tahoe every day except Sundays.

Several bids aside from the one accepted were offered for the route.

The bid for hauling the Hobart mail was recently awarded to Joe Mattos, the present carrier.

Limit Loads For Highway Causing Volume of Protest

Local Chamber Asked To Aid In Abolishing State Load Limits

The Truckee Chamber of Commerce this week was asked to lend its support to a plan to prohibit the limiting of loads along a section of the Feather River highway on and after May 1. The request was made by C. A. Carrau of the Truckee-Tahoe Lumber company and Moke Kielhofer of the Texas Oil company. Pleading further time to study the matter, no action was taken by the local group.

A meeting of business men and others interested in the matter was scheduled for this afternoon in Sierra County. Resolutions of protest have been filed with Governor Merriam, Earl Lee Kelly, director of public works and State Senator Jerrold Seawell.

It has been explained that the load limit on the highway will prevent the lumber companies and others who operate heavy trucks from using the highway. The limit load idea will be detrimental, it was said, to many industries throughout this area.

George T. McCoy, assistant state highway engineer, announced in Sacramento that loads on the Feather River highway will be limited to 16,000 pounds until the frost season ends about May 1. He said the limit was put on to save the highway from breaking up. He said the road cannot withstand heavy loads under frost conditions.

282 Easterners Pass Here Into California Jobs

With unemployment and relief constituting the state's most serious problems, 282 persons who claimed to have jobs awaiting them in California have passed through the Truckee checking station during the past two weeks. William Koche, one of the officials there reported this week.

Of this number, Koche said, the majority were from the middle western states. They were en route to scattered parts of California, but all claimed to have jobs awaiting them. Many of the jobs, Koche said the survey revealed, were with major companies.

Tri-County Health Unit Is Proposed By State Aide

Dr. Uhl Explains Operation Of Public Health Plan Before Club

NO ADDITIONAL COSTS

Need For Program In Rural Areas Stressed During Address Here

Stressing the urgent need for full-time health officers in the rural as well as urban areas of the state, Dr. George M. Uhl, chief of the bureau of county health work of the state department of public health, in an address before the Truckee Lions club last night, outlined a proposal for inauguration of such a program under the sponsorship of Nevada, Placer and El Dorado counties.

Dr. Uhl, who has spoken before numerous service clubs and similar organizations throughout the state along public health work lines, drew a clear word picture of the work being accomplished and contemplated through the cooperation of the state with central public health units. He explained that while the work has already assumed major proportions in urban areas, there remains much to be done in the less congested, but equally important sections of the state.

At present, Dr. Uhl declared, many sections are operating under inadequate part-time programs, maintained entirely by the counties with only remote cooperation with the state department.

The three counties, El Dorado, Nevada and Placer, are at present spending upwards of $12,000 annually on preventative health work, or work which could be more thoroughly and efficiently done under the state supervised program. This sum, the speaker explained would be sufficient, with what could be anticipated from the state and federal governments, to create and maintain the full-time program with no increase in taxation.

Eighty per cent of the state is now receiving the full time service, while only 50 per cent of the rural communities are benefitting from the program, Dr. Uhl said.

During 1935, through the Social Security Act, $8,000,000 was provided for public health work, the sum being apportioned to the various states for administration. In California a portion is being used to train men in public health or preventive work and lend financial aid to the counties desiring to avail themselves of the service. From this established fund, the state is not only able to assist financially, but provide highly trained personnel, make surveys and offer recommendations. Since the program went into effect the number of public health officers in the state has increased from 14 to 23 and eight more will be available next year. There are only nine counties with populations in excess of 25,000 which have not been provided the service, Dr. Uhl said.

While the state is willing and even anxious to provide all possible aid, it is entirely within the jurisdiction of the boards of supervisors to set up the programs.

Public health service, Dr. Uhl pointed out, should not be confused with county hospitals or other curative units, it being a service designed to prevent rather than cure illnesses or epidemics.

Such problems as our local sewer system, garbage disposal and kindred matters would come directly under the public health department.

Dr. Uhl and the state department of public health received noteworthy tribute from the club through President C. Edmunds, who pointed out that no other department of the state has been as concerned with the affairs of this district or more willing to extend cooperation in the solution of local problems.

WHO'LL PAY THE FIDDLER?

One out of every seven Californians is on relief—state or federal. That headache-provoking statement was issued a few days ago by the state relief administration, which urged "serious thought" on the local relief picture.

Serious thought? Great Caesar's ghost! As though anybody in California entertained any other kind of thoughts about the wild orgy of spending wherever public funds are available.

Taxpayers are poignantly aware that California's public debt is too high. Moreover, they fear the end is not yet in sight, for 1938's crop of sugar-coated but lunatic propositions which would plunge sorely-harassed taxpayers still date and that.

Mr. Pomeroy's total of government dependants are too modest. If we included employees of the state, counties, municipalities and various other governmental subdivisions, persons whose wages are paid out of the public treasury, we are forced to the conviction that at least one out of every five depends on public funds for his livelihood. And one wonders precisely who will be left to provide the taxes to finance it all, if we persist in politics which daily increase the list of those who feed at the public trough. If the present trend continues, we may abolish private business entirely and all go to work for the government!

THE PICTURE BRIGHTENS

Pronounced improvement in California's building industry brightens the business outlook on the Pacific Coast.

Value of March building permits in 32 cities was $14,473, 558, an increase of 45.9 per cent over February and only slightly below the comparatively high level of March, 1937. And the consensus among business men is that residential building activities will rise to still higher levels this year.

IT GETS 'EM

When all is said and done, it's the newspaper advertising that gets 'em.

That's what H. L. Blakley, New York advertising expert, thinks. And considering he has the say-so in the annual expenditure of some $7,000,000 in advertising, his judgment should count for something. In California a few days ago to study the advertising value of the rural press, the expert paid tribute to the effectiveness and worth of various forms of advertising—and wound up by saying four-fifths of his advertising appropriations for 1938 would go to country newspapers.

All of which seems to prove that the country newspaper has made good in the city.

De-throning the Queen

Politically Speaking

By Jack Welter
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, April 28.—(UP)—State Senator Culbert Olson apparently has decided to come out fighting from the opening bell.

Ignoring what appears to have been an attempt to place him in the middle of an embarrassing political situation, the former EPIC stalwart laid down a 15-point program upon which his drive for the governorship will be based.

For the moment, at least, it appears that the strategy of state Democratic Committee Chairman Argyle Campbell has fallen flat. With Olson's statement of his aims and purposes and the reluctance of other Democratic candidates to retire from the field, Campbell's dream of pre-primary harmony appears shattered.

Thus far no loyal heroes of the Bourbon ranks have evinced any willingness to sacrifice themselves to party glory. And this is Campbell's greatest stumbling block. In a year when the field is wide open who will be the first to say: "I think my chances are pretty fair, but after all you are the logical candidate and so I will withdraw in your favor?"

Aside from Campbell and former Federal Comptroller of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor, the plan has met with a decided lack of enthusiasm among all concerned.

Dated April 10, 1938.
TRUCKEE GARAGE
First publication of this notice on April 14, 1938. A14-21-28.

To begin with the scheme would be absolutely without legal status. Even supposing warring factions were to gather and select one from their number to battle the entrenched Republicans, it is little less than ridiculous to assume that the passing days would not bring about a change of heart.

Further no Democratic gubernatorial candidate has displayed the slightest evidence of being anything else than deadly serious.

Of the Democratic candidates who have indicated their determination to wait around for the last quarter the list includes besides Olson and O'Connor, Sheriff Daniel C. Murphy of San Francisco, Supervisor Herbert C. Legg of Los Angeles, and Congressman John Dockweiler.

Olson's program, meanwhile, draws very clearly the issues between himself and the so-called conservative element. It is worth noting, however, that the dignified Los Angeles penator, who once moved with ease and certainty among the followers of Upton Sinclair, divorced himself from the ranks of his former compatriots with a sure touch.

In his platform will be discerned no startling reforms: his recommendations embrace a broad outline of social reforms extending from rigid control of the state's natural resources to the safeguarding of civil liberties.

Most open to the Republican gunfire, however, is the plank calling for exemption from the sales tax all retail food sales, clothing, farm implements and mechanical tools. Where Olson would find the revenue

Tahoe Ramblings

(By SWANEE)

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hicks have arrived at Tahoe and are busily engaged in shoveling snow this week preparatory to reopening for the summer season the Family Liquor Store in Tahoe City and the cottages on the Circle which are under their leased management.

The Brodehl family in Tahoe City have been making considerable news during the past few weeks. Mr. D. M. Brodehl, Tahoe Mail contractor, is at present enjoying a visit in Detroit where he will purchase a new Chevrolet car in which to return home after having inspected his extensive ranch properties in North Dakota.

Mrs. D. M. Brodehl has been a patient in the Dr. Lawrence sanitarium at Stockton for nearly a month, having undergone a serious operation there. She is expected to return home within a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Brodehl and children enjoyed a weekend visit to the bay region where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cowell, former Tahoeites, now living at San Mateo. They also witnessed a thrilling bit of racing at Bay Meadows before returning home.

Investigation continues by local authorities here into the various jobs of housebreaking perpetrated by unknown parties in various sections of the lake during the winter months. It was estimated about $50 worth of groceries were removed from the Knox Grocery store at Tahoe Park sometime during the past month entrance being gained through a rear window.

Discovery was also made by Lief Nielsen of Lake Forest last week that someone had entered his home in that district and pilfered its contents. The estimate of the loss is not known at this time. The Niensens are caretakers during the winter at the Homewood residence of the F. P. Cuttings.

Mrs. Violet Pomin a week ago was hostess at her home at Pomin's resort to a group of friends to tender another surprise shower to Mrs. Carl Bechdolt, Jr. A tasty luncheon preceded opening of gifts, Dutch whist consuming the late afternoon hours. In attendance were the Misses Beccy Brodehl, Marilyn Hinkle, Dolores Pyle and Winnifred Harris, and Mesdames Marie Henry, Northie Pomin, Nellie Woolley of Reno, Dianne Grover, Carl Bechdolt, Sr., Art Brodehl and the honoree.

Mrs. Gertrude Broach and Chris Nielsen of Tahoe Park are vacationing for several weeks in Auburn and the bay region.

Dr. C. B. Pedersen arrived last weekend from Arizona to reopen his attractive home in Tahoe Park. He wintered at Castle Hot Springs where he is the resident physician annually.

Walter Rounsevel, manager again of Tahoe Tavern this year, last week announced in San Francisco that the official opening date for the Tavern would be June 25. He anticipates a very busy season with much eastern tourist patronage and a number of important conventions. The work of remodeling and redecorating is progressing rapidly, approximately $50,000 being expended in the modernization process.

TWO PETITIONS FOR CANDIDATES ARE RECEIVING SIGNERS

TAHOE CITY, April 28.—Two petitions are being circulated at Tahoe this week, one endorsing the candidacy of Senator Jerry Seawell for Lieutenant Governor and one endorsing the reelection of George Bliss to the office of local justice of the peace. Seawell's petition is meeting with many favorable comments, the candidate being popular in the lake region.

The petition endorsing the continuation of Judge Bliss in office of justice here is also receiving generous support. Rumors of opposition for the post in the coming election have not been supported to date by announcements. Judge Bliss has presided in the Tahoe justice court for some ten years, succeeding C. W. Nelson, deceased, former associate manager of the old Lake Tahoe railroad and transportation company.

PASTURE, RANGE IN STATE BETTER THAN ANY YEAR SINCE 1922

SACRAMENTO, April 28.—(UP)—Pasture and range conditions in California this year are the most favorable since 1922, a survey by the state crop reporting service as of April 1 revealed.

Well-distributed rainfall during March was credited with improving the grazing situation throughout the state, particularly in the southern districts. April 1 condition of pastures was rated at 95 per cent, compared with 74 a year ago, and a gain of 14 above the 10-year average of 81.

CLEVER SLUETHING USED IN ARRESTS OF HIGHGRADERS

SACRAMENTO, (April 28.—UP)—Accounts of the breaking of a wide-spread "highgrading" conspiracy in California's gold-producing area are as full of suspense as any blood-and-thunder chronicle of super-sluething and undercover operations.

Two years of investigation in the Mother Lode region have netted scores of indictments and convictions after millions of dollars had been lost by California's mining industry through illicit highgrading.

In 1935 John F. Bongard, ore buyer's inspector of the division of mines, aided by agents of the United States secret service, began undercover work to determine the working of the conspiracy.

Inspector Bongard's report of his activities then took on a detective story flair. He found that most of the stolen ore was taken from underground workings, concealed by the miners in tobacco cans with false bottoms, in watches with the works removed and sacks tied in various parts of the body.

They conspired with surface workers to remove ore from the mines to small illicit grinding plants. The plants reduced the ore, brought it from the highgraders and sold it to licensed ore buyers or owners of prony mines, who in turn shipped it to the U. S. mint.

The investigators themselves established a supposedly illicit grinding plant near Grass Valley, bought the stolen ore and sold it to the ore buyers operating much as do underworld "fences" or buyers of stolen goods.

In this way both ends of the highgrading conspiracy were linked and the members arrested on state and federal charges.

Als netted were the operators of fictitious mines, who sold the stolen gold to the government on the pretense of having mined it themselves.

Two men are now on trial in the Placerville superior court on charges of grand larceny in connection with the highgrading plot. Others have been indicted and are scheduled for trial soon. Most of the conspirators were arrested in El Dorado and Amador counties.

BIDS ON SHASTA DAM WILL BE OPENED ABOUT JUNE FIRST

SACRAMENTO, (April 28.—UP)—Prospective bidders for construction of Shasta dam and power project major unit of the Central Valley water project, may obtain contract specifications and plans for the work by applying to the Bureau of Reclamation offices at Washington, Denver and Sacramento, construction headquarters for the project announced here.

The information, contained in a printed volume issued by the bureau, includes regulations governing bonds and guarantees, minimum wage and labor conditions, erection of the contractor's camp, diversion and care of the Sacramento river during construction. It also lists materials to be furnished by the contractor and those by the government, requirements for the various types of work testing and inspection.

Bids on the project units will be opened here June 1. If bids prove satisfactory to the government, work may get under way by the middle of July, officials said.

Governor Halts Legislative Session

"While the cat's away..." commented Governor Clarence Martin, of the state of Washington, at right, as he arrived home after a rush trip by chartered plane from Washington, D. C. His first act was to confer with his secretary, George Hamilton, left, on plans to stop a special session of the State Legislature, called by Lieut. Gov. Vic Meyers, during his absence.

Another Angle

Zoe Dell Lantis, "glamor girl" of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, has posed driving tractors, hurtling mountain canyons, leaning out of windows. And still new things are found for her to do. Here she is adding glamor to Frank Fuller's speed plane which will be sent around the country to promote the national speed races in Oakland the end of May.

NOEL PORTER TO WED JEAN GUNN, FRIENDS ARE TOLD

At San Francisco last week engagement of Miss Jean Lisette Gunn to Noel Edmund Porter of Sacramento was announced at a luncheon given in the Women's Athletic Club.

Porter is the eldest son of Bishop and Mrs. Noel Porter of Sacramento who are frequent visitors at Lake Tahoe where Bishop Porter conducts services during the summer months.

Miss Gunn is a member of an early pioneer California family. The plans for the marriage ceremony have not been announced, but it is believed it will take place in the summer and probably in the picturesque vicinity of Lake Tahoe.

The betrothal of Miss Katherine Hanes and Cedric Porter, another son of Bishop and Mrs. Porter was recently announced.

NEW FAIR BUILDING TO BE NAMED AFTER GOVERNOR

SACRAMENTO, April 28.—(UP)—California state fair's new assembly building will be known as Merriam Hall in honor of Governor Frank F. Merriam, directors of the exposition announced.

The $200,000 structure, now under construction at the fair grounds, is one of several buildings to be erected under a long range program which eventually will cost $2,000,000.

The directors also approved construction of new bleachers at a cost of $10,000. They will supplement the $165,000 grandstand extension now under construction.

26 NEW LAWS FOLLOW SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

SACRAMENTO, April 28.—(UP)—California's special legislative session of last March resulted in 26 new laws going into the statute books, while only three measures approved by the legislature died by Governor Frank F. Merriam's pocket veto. The constitutional bill signing period ended last Saturday night.

Two constitutional amendments will go on the ballot next November for final judgment by the voters.

These propose to permit the state judicial council to call all classifications of retired judges for service on special assignment by the council and would vest the legislature with authority to effect a proposed merger of the state relief administration and the department of social welfare.

Approval of new laws covering the southern California tideland oil situation, setting up machinery through which California may participate in the federal government's housing program and approval of $15,900,000 in special appropriations were the outstanding acts of the session.

The appropriations bills included $4,900,000 for unemployment relief, of which $400,000 was for sewing projects and $500,000 for self-help co-operatives. Another made available $6,000,000 in state funds for assistance to counties in meeting mounting costs of old age pensions and $5,000,000 was appropriated to the governor's emergency fund for use in repairing roads, highways and bridges and otherwise alleviating conditions caused by winter floods.

Other measures passed by the legislature and approved by the governor provide for:

Amendments to the agricultural prorate act; restrictions on state financial participation in county fairs; use of Diesel fuel tax revenues for repair and maintenance of posted signs and bridges; authorization to building and loan associations to

RADIO SHOWER IS ORIGINATED BY TAHOE AMATEUR

Amateur radio operator Lila Hill of Lake Tahoe (W6TEH) is credited with originating a radio stork shower for Mrs. Rudolph Mont-Eton, who lives in an isolated mine cabin off the beaten path near Georgetown El Dorado county. Other amateurs cooperated. The plans were made by mail and each operator mailed their gift to an Oakland couple who drove to the home of the surprised couple.

Each evening Mr. and Mrs. Mont-Eton, who operate the small mine turn to their amateur shortwave set for recreation.

The couple, who normally are fluent speakers over the air lanes were thrilled speechless when they learned 100 persons were at the controls of their sets in scattered parts of California, Nevada and Oregon waiting to congratulate them.

Without a slipup or a leak in the plans the arrangements were carried out to a letter.

The shower ended in the wee hours of the morning after each donor had been personally thanked by the honorees.

The couple have never seen their pals of the air, but know them well from conversations over the air.

make loans under the national housing act; state soil conservation committee to work with federal and other similar agencies; a state exhibit at the Golden Gate International Exposition; insurance of Golden Gate Exposition buildings; equal pay for municipal and superior court jurors; extension of the state employees' retirement system to non-academic employees of the University of California; extension of the 10-year payment tax moratorium until August 20, 1938; taxing gross premiums on re-insurance affecting California but written outside the state.

Several other measures, validating bonds of municipalities and various classes of school districts, also received final enactment.

Only State Senator Herbert Slaters Geysers road bill, Assemblyman C. Don Field's measure relating to sale of tax-deeded lands and Assemblyman Charles Lyon's bill appropriating $2,000 for lower house contingent expenses were killed by executive pocket veto.

Missing Persons Bureau Dates Back To Gold Rush Days In Library

A missing persons bureau dating back to the first Forty Niner exists in the unmelodramatic confines of the California department of the state library.

Many an impetuous soul rushed to the mother lode, died or lived through California's golden days and failed to notify relatives left behind them. Many a bearded adventurer who roared "O Susannah" in California mining camps failed to return to Louisiana with or without a banjo on his knee. Perhaps the hazardous mail service accounted for these wordless disappearances, or accidents en route or death at the end of the national rainbow.

Every day requests came from all relatives.

Others left their homes in the east and south to become wealthy in the gold rush—and failed to communicate with their less fortunate relatives.

Freedom's FIRST LINE OF Defense

TRUE DEMOCRACY is impossible without an unrestricted exchange of opinion between the people and their public servants. The distinction between a free government and an autocracy lies in the right of all citizens to voice and print their own opinion, the right to oppose policies and candidates at the ballot box, the right to live their own lives and speak their own thoughts within the limits of constitutional law. Civil freedom in America was won for Americans at the price of battle, hardship, and bloodshed. To maintain it is the first duty of every American regardless of political conviction. Foremost among the barriers to dictatorship in our country is freedom of the press. American government will always remain a free government as long as the American press remains free from political coercion and censorship. You and your newspaper share equally in the responsibility of safeguarding American liberty. Support your newspaper—protect it—its welfare is your welfare—its freedom is your freedom.

to replace this loss is a moot question. The sales tax revenue supports the schools, for instance, and some adequate and painless substitute will have to be found.

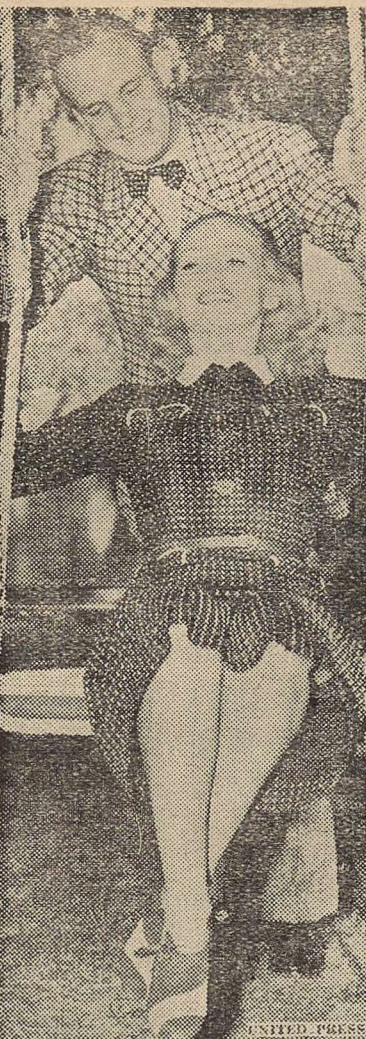

Upon his demand for competent and far reaching tideland oil legislation Olson stands upon firm ground. Recognized as an expert in this field, he is bound to furnish opponents with plenty of trouble in this direction. Olson, admittedly, knows the complex field of tideland oil legislation as few legislators do. Singlehanded he battled through the 1937 legislature a bill regulating the rich Huntington Beach pool and designed to return to the state royalties approaching a maximum of 40 per cent.

The measure since has been subjected to referendum and will be placed on the November ballot. But none of its effectiveness as a campaign issue will be lost thereby, and tideland oil, from the Olson point of view, may well become a major campaign issue.

Other Olson points:

Efficient public service, aid to agriculture, elimination of "political-minded" administration of social welfare agencies, a smooth-working unemployment insurance law, low cost housing, legislation to protect consumers with low incomes, a drive against exorbitant interest charges

Traveling Around America

AS DUTCH AS HOLLAND!

HERE'S a little town in the Caribbean that looks as if it had strayed across the ocean from Holland. It is Willemstad, the capital and chief port for Curacao, one of the six islands which form the Dutch West Indies—a port on the route of the weekly cruises from New York to the West Indies and South America.

The town is spread out along the seashore and is cut through the center by what seems to be a canal, but which is really a channel leading from the sea to a large inland bay behind the town and another canal leading at right angles also cuts the city. The delicately tinted houses with red-tiled roofs have curving eaves and tiny peaks and gables which betray their Dutch ancestry; the spotlessly clean streets and the "canals" with their quaint pontoon bridges also suggest Holland. Dutch also is the official language, though English and Spanish are spoken also, particularly by the upper classes. The natives, however, use a jargon called papiamentoe which is made up of Dutch, Spanish, English, Portuguese and Indian. It's little wonder that their language has become mixed, for forty different nationalities are represented in the population of the island and street scenes present a perfect pageant of colorful costumes.

Meeks Bay

The H. and W. Philanthropic club of Meeks Bay met with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stark in their home after a business meeting presided over by the president, Mrs. Cora Walker and other officers in their places. Dutch whist was enjoyed by the 21 members and two guests. High score was held by Mrs. C. R. Heller for the ladies and A. M. Henry for the men. Lows went to Mrs. S. P. Brown and C. W. Vernon. Mr. and Mrs. Stark served sandwiches, cake and coffee and all reported a very enjoyable evening.

The H. and W. Philanthropic club decided to postpone the parcel post party which is an annual affair usually held in April on account of the fact there is still so much snow. With the snow gone work will demand so much time, it was decided to await until early fall for the party. It is believed that conditions then will be better and assure a bigger and better party.

Mr. L. Kores has departed for his home in Fort Wayne, Ind., after spending several weeks with his daughter, Mrs. Edward Perry of Meeks Bay.

On last Wednesday, Mr. L. Kores, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Perry, Mr. Hans Hansen and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Heller attended the show in Truckee. When they returned to Meeks Bay a big birthday cake was waiting on the table for Mr. and Mrs. Heller in honor of Mr. Hansen. It was in the nature of a complete surprise to the honoree.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Henderson have been at Meadow Park for some time preparing for the summer season. They plan to manage the resort this summer.

The Hollenbeck Brothers have arrived at their Meeks Bay homes. They are carpenters and keep busy from early in the summer until late fall.

Word has been received from Mr. L. Baker, manager of Meeks Bay restaurant that he will arrive on Wednesday, April 27 to start getting his place in readiness for the summer.

Mr. Claire Austin of Oklahoma is stopping with his uncle Mr. Lee Garner at Cedar Crest and plans to work for Mr. Garner this summer.

UNEMPLOYMENT CENSUS

Unskilled and semiskilled workers are predominate among the unemployed in this state who registered for the National Unemployment Census. Of the 71,755 men who registered as "totally unemployed" and reported an occupation 35,967 were semiskilled workers; 15,157 were farm laborers; 31,855 were classified as unskilled laborers and 38,477 were skilled workmen and foremen.

REPUBLICANS TO GAIN, POLL

The Republicans will gain 100 seats in the House of Representatives next November according to a recent survey made by the Institute of Public Opinion. They will gain some seats in the Senate. But in both branches will remain Democratic by heavy majorities. It is mathematically possible for the Republicans to gain control of the House—but no one thinks that can happen. It is mathematically impossible for them to gain control of the Senate. As a result, more attention will be fixed on the Democratic primaries—to see how anti-New Deal candidates fare against pro-New Deal candidates.

NORDEN NEWS

Old Man Winter is reluctant in leaving for parts unknown until better satisfied with future engagements are satisfactory to its itinerary accounted for two inches of new snow and some rain deposited over last Sunday and Monday in the high Sierra about Norden adding a jest to the assembled snow sport enthusiasts that were scattered pell-mell out the several ski courses. Sufficient snow still remain on the slopes to satisfy any and all ski fans that may wish late exercise along this line.

Many friends of the late Joseph Boyd, a salesman and watch inspector of Sacramento, deeply regretted the news of his passing earlier this week.

The August Rutishauser family of Kelseyville were visitors at the J. C. Lyons home in Norden for a week.

Johnny Backarich, Norden's versatile ski instructor and host, is vacationing about the bay for several days. During his absence Robert Randall is pinch hitting in his place.

Due to press of business 12 members of B and B 113, Norden co-workers of Robert Schull who was killed by a cavein at Tunnel 11, April 17, were unable to attend the rites held in Yuba City where the rites were held.

Norden elementary schools resumed activities on April 18 under the able guidance of Mrs. Ethel Threlkel of Auburn. There were 16 enrollees the first week with many more to be added as weather conditions permit.

Kirby Schull, brother of Robert Schull, killed earlier in the month, accompanied by Miss Lola Frye have returned to Norden after attending the funeral in Yuba City. Both are employed in this vicinity.

Percy Hargrave, an assistant engineer of the S. P. company and his party were in this vicinity for several days n business.

Mrs. Dee Bowen who spent several weeks in and about Portland, Oregon, has returned to her home in Norden.

Anglers have not taken much interest in the opening of the trout streams nearby due to snow and ice covering lakes and streams still inaccessible while other parts report high water stages.
